FORMER MENTAL PATIENT HUNTED (BULLETIN)

CHICAGO, Jan. 10.—(INS)—Police Capt. John L. Sullivan announced early today that a ladder believed used by the kidnap-slayer of 6-year-old Suzanne Degnan has been identified as one stolen from a nursery home only two blocks from the James E. Degnan home where the little girl was carried from her bed and out a window.

The ladder was found in the rear of the Degnan home in the North Side Edgewater district shortly after Suzanne was kidnapped early Monday. The child's dismembered body, except for the arms, was later found in sewers in the neighborhood.

Hunt Former Mental Patient
Immediately after tracing ownership of the ladder police began an intensive search for a one-time employee of the nursery and former mental patient at the Manteno, Ill., state hospital.

Mrs. Margaret Perry, 45, who operates the day and night nursery, (at 6033 Winthrop avenue) identified the ladder.

PA NEWS OBSERVES

Many barrels are noted in front of the various shops downtown, which are being used as receptacles for old shoes in the Victory Clothing Collection. Let's fill them up.

Many motorists have expressed their appreciation of the blinker installed by the city at the corner of North Mercer street and Wallace avenue. This is a rather dangerous spot and the light serves to remind motorists of the fact.

Pa News noticed the other day that the warm weather of the past few weeks has caused hyacinths to poke their noses above ground. However, he has noticed this condition in past years, but they never seemed to bloom any earlier in the spring.

Pa News observes that there is quite a variety of clothing in the windows of the Victory Clothing Collection headquarters in the old USO rooms on the diamond. Someone even took the mid-winter "spring" too seriously and donated a handsome suit of long underwear which is displayed in the window.

Two girls were observed this morning in an attempt to enter one of the downtown market doors. After numerous overtures and "after you" motions, someone held the door open for them and they sailed briskly in, side by side. Maybe that's the way twins do things.

On East Sycamore street, back of the Penna. Power building on Wednesday afternoon, a squirrel quite tamely looked up into an Amish gentleman's face, as much as to say "what have you to offer". The gentleman took something out of a small wrapper, handed it to the animal who examined it carefully, dropped it, swished its tail vigorously, meaning "perhaps, 'no good'", and went on its way.

Holland Salesman Back, Reveals Conditions During War In Native Country

Things are tough you think? You can't buy a white shirt, butter is scarce, sugar more of the same and Scotch practically impossible? And you think it's a tough winter?

We are the luckiest people in the world. The Statesmen isn't ours. It comes from Harry W. Verdegall of Sassenheim, Netherlands, a bulb salesman for the family company who is just back in the States after being in Holland since 1939. Prior to that he made annual trips to the States selling the bulbs grown by his family in Sassenheim.

"Afraid to Eat?"
"I have been back in the States since November," said he, "and I am still afraid to eat all I want to. After those winters in Holland and especially 1944-45 I don't know whether I could stand too much food."

"I left the States in 1939 to get back to my family in Holland, and had to go through Italy and Germany, but I made it. Then in 1940 came the German occupation of Holland. The Germans were clever for a time in their treatment of the Hollanders. They didn't confiscate anything, that is on the surface. They paid cash for everything they took but they forgot to mention to our people that they were printing Dutch money like soap wrappers."

"For example, a man owned a plant worth $50,000. The Germans offered him $100,000 for it, paid spot."

Western Union Operators Strike Still In Progress

New York Commercial Life Seriously Affected As Strike Continues

NEW YORK, Jan. 10.—(INS)—Commercial life was seriously affected today as the strike of 7,000 Western Union telegraph workers entered its third day in metropolitan New York, financial nerve center of the nation.

There was no sign of a settlement. Company officials estimated 15 per cent of the normal 175,000 daily messages were being transmitted but union officials insisted the true figure was nearer four per cent.

Refusal of non-striking cable operators to transmit copy coming into New York via Western Union cut transatlantic cable and radio messages to 60 per cent of normal. Telegraph service outside New York continued normally except that few messages to and from the metropolis got through—those handled by a limited number of non-striking supervisory employees.

Rev. J. N. Gallagher Of Youngstown Is Killed In Accident

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Jan. 10.—(INS)—Rev. Joseph M. Gallagher, 44, superintendent of schools for Youngstown Catholic diocese, was killed today in a traffic accident while en route to St. Columbus cathedral from his Youngstown residence.

Father Gallagher's car was struck by another automobile driven by Mickey Lucas, 24, of Youngstown, according to police.

The priest was thrown from the auto and pinned under the wrecked car, which had to be jacked up to release him. He was rushed to St. Elizabeth's hospital but was pronounced dead upon arrival.

Negotiations In Steel Wage Battle Will Be Resumed

Decision To Resume Collective Bargaining Conference Made Late Wednesday

QUICK ACTION NEEDED TO PREVENT STRIKE

NEW YORK, Jan. 10.—(INS)—Officials of the United States Steel Corporation and CIO United Steel Workers will resume collective bargaining today in New York in an effort to head off a nation wide strike already set for next Monday.

The decision of the mill owners and union to resume negotiations—stymied since last October—came yesterday on the heels of a report that the Washington administration stands ready to grant the industry a $4-a-ton price increase in an attempt to forestall a strike of 700,000 members of the union.

Today's renewed negotiations are the result of a request to both the company and union several days ago from President Truman's three-man fact-finding board in the steel controversy.

Hopes For Offer
On the eve of today's negotiations President Philip Murray of the union said he hoped for a "substantial" U. S. Steel offer in answer to the union's demand for an increase of $2 a day. This led to hopes of a compromise agreement.

Unlike the United Auto Workers in the General Motors strike, the steel union is not demanding the pay increase without a rise in steel prices. The Office of Price Administration has recommended an increase of $2.50 a ton and opposition to a greater increase appeared to be diminishing.

The steel operators originally asked an increase of $7 a ton and to date have flatly opposed the union's demand for a $2 daily wage rise. Despite announcement of today's renewed negotiations between U. S. Steel and the union, workers in numerous steel plants were preparing to bank furnaces in anticipation of a strike Monday. Only a quick settlement can keep these furnaces operating.

On the eve of today's negotiations President Philip Murray of the union said he hoped for a "substantial" U. S. Steel offer in answer to the union's demand for an increase of $2 a day. This led to hopes of a compromise agreement.

Long Distance Phone Service Hit At Capital

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—(INS)—Long distance telephone service in the capital was halted today when operators left their posts for a union mass meeting.

The walkout began an hour before the scheduled start of a "continuous meeting," beginning at 11 a. m.

Union leaders described the walkout as a protest over working conditions and other "grievances."

They said it had no connection with the threatened national telephone strike in sympathy with Western Electric company strikers.

Federal Conciliation Service officials conferred with Mrs. Mary Gannon, president of the Washington Telephone Traffic Union, for nearly an hour before the walkout started exploring the possibility of shortening the continuous session.

A Labor department spokesman said, however, that the conciliators received no assurances on this point from the union.

Government Agencies In Battle On Butter Price

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—(INS)—The Agriculture department and the Office of Price Administration battled today over an increase in the price of butter.

OPA Chief Chester Bowles is "vigorously opposed" to any raise in butter prices as proposed by Secretary of Agriculture Anderson.

The agriculture secretary asks for a six-cent a pound increase to stimulate production of butter.

The dispute may be settled by a compromise agreement based on price ceilings for butterfat. The OPA is drafting such an order to divert more cream into the manufacture of butter.

An OPA order setting butterfat ceilings, however, would have to be approved by Anderson, OPA officials

Poland Butcher Goes On Trial At Nuernberg

Hans Frank, Self-Styled Butcher Of Poland, Laced By U. S. Prosecutor

By PIERRE J. HUSS
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

NUERNBERG, Jan. 10.—Lieut. Col. William H. Balow opened the Allied case against Hans Frank, the butcher of Poland, today before the international war crimes tribunal at Nuernberg.

Frank stated into vacancy and muttered to himself as the assistant U. S. prosecutor laced into him with evidence taken from his own 38-volume diary.

Diary Tells Tale
Col. Balow declared that Frank's diary noted his "every appointment, every speech, every crime."

Extracts from the damning diary were offered in evidence to show that Frank had declared:

"The racial struggle is without legal restriction. For we have won the war that for all I care mimics that of the Poles, Ukrainians and the others running around here."

Frank's diary noted that the Nazis on trial at Nuernberg, on "Roosevelt's war criminal list" should remember that he "had the honor of being listed as number ten."

Seek To Prevent Crippling Phone Strike On Friday

Last Minute Effort Under Way To End Day Old Installation Workers Strike

MAKE PLAN TO START PICKETING FRIDAY

NEW YORK, Jan. 10.—(INS)—A last-minute effort was under way today to end the day-old strike of telephone installation workers in 44 states which threatens to cripple phone service in cities from coast to coast starting tomorrow.

Federal Conciliator J. R. Mandelbaum arranged a meeting in New York at 9 a. m. today between representatives of the striking Association of Communications equipment makers and Western Electric manufacturing subsidiary of the American Telephone & Telegraph company in an 11th hour attempt to head off a national phone tie-up.

Will Picket Exchanges
Meanwhile 18,000 striking installation men who walked out yesterday in every state but Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont and Montana went ahead with their plans to start picketing exchanges tomorrow in their strike for a $6 weekly pay raise.

Phone operators and other telephone employees in most cities were expected to refuse to cross the picket lines. Only dial telephones would be left unaffected.

A two-hour session yesterday between ACEW and Western Electric officials, with Mandelbaum presiding, apparently bogged down on whether negotiations should continue on long-standing wartime issues of wages, travel time and expenses and helpers' expenses.

CHURCHILL MAY GET UNO POST

Mention Churchill For Post Of Secretary General To United Organization

LONDON, Jan. 10.—(INS)—UNO delegation circles mentioned Winston Churchill today as a possible candidate for the post of secretary general to the United Nations organization.

Mexican sources declared that the ex-Prime Minister of Britain would be an acceptable candidate for the post in Latin American eyes.

Informed quarters doubted that Churchill would accept the position because it would mean that he must serve as leader of the opposition in parliament.

Belgian leader Henri Spaak was mentioned for the post of secretary general. Many accept him as the favored candidate.

Demonstration In Tokyo Is 'Silent'

YOKOHAMA, Jan. 10.—(INS)—More than 1,000 American occupation troops, obviously uneasy under Japanese scrutiny, today staged a "silent" demonstration against demobilization slowness in Yokohama.

Although official army estimates set the crowd at "about 300," observers agreed that the throng exceeded 1,000.

Seemingly apprehensive GI's collected quietly in a parking lot opposite Eighth Army headquarters until and unidentified technical sergeant climbed on a jeep and announced:

"The purpose of this meeting has been accomplished and men are urged to return to their units."

The speaker then left hurriedly, declining to identify himself in response to requests to do so.

Order To End Chinese Civil War Is Issued

'Cease Fire' Order Is Issued Jointly By Central Government And Communists

ANNOUNCEMENT MADE BY CHIANG (BULLETIN)

CHUNGKING, Jan. 10.—(INS)—Gen. George C. Marshall's "mission to China" attained complete success today when Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek and communist leader Mao Tse-Tung issued a "cease fire" order ending the Chinese civil war.

The generalissimo announced the armistice in a cheerful address to the inter-party political consultative council.

He said:
"I am happy to announce that an agreement has been reached to cease hostilities and orders already have gone out to that effect."

The hushed audience of 38 delegates and newspaper representatives gently applauded the announcement with traditional Chinese restraint. The generalissimo spoke from a dais before a floodlighted picture of Sun Yat-sen.

Communist spokesman Chou En-Lai followed Chiang to the platform and said:

18 Years Of Strife
"China has begun a new chapter. After eighteen years of suffering and fratricidal strife we now

The weather outside may be chilly, the winds may be howling a gale, and the lakes and the oceans are stormy not fit to be sporting a sail. But inside it is spring or almost so, the seed books are coming just now, and I dream of the days when a fellow can work outside in the garden and haw. I read of the bees and the parsnips, that I'll plant when the weather is bright, and I figure the types of the spuds I will raise and read of them into the night. Let the weather be stormy and wild like, let the winter storm gallop and roar, it's spring when the seed books start coming, the weather is cool, forty-four.

Health, Safety Of People Of State Assured In Strike

Commonwealth Pledged By Governor Martin To Maintain Safety And Health Of People

HARRISBURG, Jan. 10.—(INS)—The commonwealth was pledged today by Gov. Edward Martin to assure the health and safety of Pennsylvanians "in any strike, work stoppage or lockout."

The governor implied that state police as well as conciliatory agencies would be used to maintain the commonwealth's strike policy. "It must be clearly understood that no facility or service rendered the public will be permitted to be shut off if in so doing the health and safety of a community would be seriously impaired," he told cabinet officers today.

The governor said he had been informed that manufactured gas production would be continued even if workers began their scheduled strike January 14.

"I have repeatedly stated that the right of labor to strike must be protected; the right of collective bargaining must be upheld, and the rights of management must be preserved," he stated.

"It must, however, be made clear that the health and safety of the public, that great third party in every industrial dispute, come first," the governor declared.

Health and safety are vital and are above the interests of both capital and labor."

Both management and labor, Governor Martin claimed, "have recognized these principles and realize their importance."

Famed Battleship Pennsylvania May Be Given To State

HARRISBURG, Jan. 10.—(INS)—The famed battleship Pennsylvania, a veteran of two wars, would be transferred by the Navy department to the commonwealth for use by the Pennsylvania Maritime academy under plans advanced today by Gov. Edward Martin and officials of Philadelphia.

The governor said Secretary of Forests and Waters James A. Kell and Mayor Bernard Samuel "were working out the details." The academy is located at Morrisville, Bucks county.

"The Navy department, I think, will turn it over to us if we will maintain it," the governor said. The battle-scarred battleship was the only major ship of the line damaged in the attack on Pearl Harbor in 1941 that was still in action when Japan capitulated.

before Sun Yat-Sen swear that we never will have civil war again."

After delivering his prepared speech, Chiang returned to the rostrum and made the following pledges:

1. Civil rights for all Chinese.
2. Legality of all political parties.
3. Institution of local self-government.

4. Release of all political prisoners except those held for treason.

Gen. Chang Chun, for the Central government, and Gen. Chou En-Lai, for the Communists, conferred for days on details of the armistice.

Cease Hostilities

The Chinese representatives met in the presence of Gen. George C. Marshall, U. S. ambassador to China, who acted as mediator in the peace negotiations.

The cease fire orders directs all regular and irregular troops, militia and guerrillas, of both the Central and Chinese forces to cease hostilities immediately.

It directs that all troop movements, except those of one national army, into or within Manchuria to halt.

Commissioners representing the Communists, Central government and the United States will be established in Peiping.

These commissioners will issue orders unanimously agreed upon "for the purpose of carrying out our agreements for the cessation of hostilities."

Orders of the commissioners will be issued in the name of Chiang Kai-Shek through the generalissimo's executive headquarters.

postwar demands only after the wartime dispute is settled. As it now stands, the new contract sought by the union would expire in April.

The strikers had scattered pledges that operators would not cross their picket lines, and an all-out pledge of support from the Western Electric Employees' Association. The WEEA's 17,000 members, employed in 21 Western Electric manufacturing plants in New York and New Jersey, have been on strike for a week for higher pay.

New York Telephone company engineers meanwhile said if operators quit their switchboard dial phones should continue to serve without interruption for a long period, barring breakdowns. Only five per cent of New York's two million phones have no dials.

A. T. & T. officials indicated that supervisory employees' manning switchboards probably would be able to maintain 15 to 25 per cent of the normal long distance and overseas calls and nearly all leased wire services.

fied the 8-foot ladder as one left at the nursery some time ago by a roofing crew.

She also gave police a description of the employee she said she dismissed three years ago because of suspicious conduct.

Captain Sullivan said that records at the Manteno institution show the new suspect in the fiendish crime was listed as a medical man and had been discharged from the hospital six years ago as cured.

The address he gave to the hospital is not far from the Degan home.

Arrested Eight Times

Chicago police records revealed that the man had been arrested eight times, but except for one assault charge, was dismissed in court each time. Most of the charges were of minor nature, it was said.

Mrs. Perry told police she identified the ladder by a piece of board used to replace a broken rung and by some tar marks.

The nursery home is only a short distance from where an apartment house janitor found a piece of looped wire with which police believe the killer strangled Suzanne.

Strands of blonde hair were found clinging to the wire, which was discovered under a stairway. Suzanne had blonde hair.

Search also was being pressed for a third janitor for questioning in connection with the kidnapping-murder.

On Drinking Spree

Detective Sgt. Jack Hanrahan said the man sought has been on a drinking spree since the child was kidnapped from the bedroom of her North side home and slain early Monday.

The janitor has been absent from his basement flat in the same neighborhood as the home of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Degan, parents of Suzanne.

The police worked against time in an effort to find more conclusive evidence which might lead to identity of the brutal killer or upon which they might base a formal charge of murder.

May Discharge Three

The police have until 4 p. m. today to place a formal charge against Hector Verburgh, 65, his wife, Mary, and Desere Smet, 35, who have been held for questioning about the crime. Verburgh and Smet are janitors of apartment buildings near the Degan home.

If the police do not have sufficient evidence upon which to base a charge against the three by that time, they will be released from custody.

The time limit was set by Judge Harold G. Ward yesterday at a criminal court hearing on a petition for a writ of habeas corpus in behalf of the Verburghs and Smet. Police asked for the extension, declaring the case was "getting hotter."

held the United Nations together in winning the war can be maintained in winning the peace.

The French were fearful that Russia would dominate most if not all of Europe. They were concerned lest the UNO be organized on a basis not strong enough to assure that the rule of the majority would prevail.

The British feared the Soviet intentions in the Near East and in the Mediterranean would menace their interests.

Russia was fearful that the formation of a western bloc of powers directed against the Soviet Union would come about.

Members of the American delegation like Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg feared that America would be tricked into parting with the secret of atomic energy.

Small nations, especially those of the continent of Europe, feared that the big powers intended to dominate world affairs.

It was into this atmosphere that "the babe of peace" named the UNO and conceived in San Francisco is being born in London today.

Massed Soldiers Make Protest At Honolulu Meeting

Congressional Committee At Hickam Field Protest Meeting; Nearly 15,000 Present

HONOLULU, Jan. 10.—(INS)—Demobilization demands were impressed today on a six-member congressional committee who sat mute before nearly 15,000 protesting soldiers massed at Hickam Field.

Coincident with the command-approved rally, however, further publication in Stars and Stripes of GI complaints against army officials was summarily banned.

Lt. Gen. Robert C. Richardson, mid-Pacific army commander, issued the order muzzling the army newspaper. No reason for the censorship was made public.

In Tokyo, staff members of the Pacific Stars and Stripes charged today that they had been forced to "delete, distort and play down news to serve the personal and professional interests of the Army hierarchy."

The Hickam Field rally, attended by thousands of soldiers, many junior officers and a few hundred WACS, furnished the congressmen a blend of logic, entertainment and color.

Except for boos accorded a reading of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's announcement that all two-year men will be home by the end of June, the rally was an impressive demonstration of orderly expression of GI complaints.

A similar mass meeting of 4,000 Marines is scheduled to be held at Camp Catlin tonight, with officer approval.

The Hickam Field rally, carried to the crowd by a public address system, was attended by members of the congressional subcommittee on territories, headed by Rep. Henry Leland, (D. La.).

and Hodge in turn detailed the arrangements for the campaign here. Members volunteered to assist him in putting out the banks which will be distributed throughout the city Saturday, for the reception of contributions from local citizens.

In addition to President Hanna, Clarence M. England is vice chairman of the chapter and also vice chairman of the coming campaign; P. C. Manz, secretary.

He told about some of the cases which have been handled here, omitting the names, and stated that eight cases in all have been aided by the local chapter during the past year, with an expenditure of $2,187.80.

In addition, several nurses have received special training at the expense of the chapter, and special equipment has been purchased and placed at the Jackson Memorial hospital, where a suite of rooms has been set aside for the treatment of polio cases.

Hospital Grateful

A letter was read from Roger W. Rowland, chairman of the board of directors of the Jackson Memorial hospital, in which he expressed the appreciation of the board for the assistance rendered by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

During October, Mr. Rowland revealed, six poliomyelitis patients were admitted and treated at the hospital, all of whom walked out completely cured. Specialized equipment and the specially trained nurses were a big factor in their cure, which was furnished through the assistance of the chapter. Additional equipment is to be added at the hospital, making it even better equipped to handle polio cases.

Merchants of the city have been asked to cooperate by accepting and displaying for the containers for funds.

The financial statement of the chapter for the past year reveals that there was $1,487.40 on hand from 1944, with receipts from the 1945 campaign of $6,129.94. ant British prosecutor, opened the case against the self-confessed Jew-baiter Julius Streicher.

Jones charged that Streicher educated the whole German people for thirty-five years in hatred. He said that Streicher invited the Germans to take part in the persecution and extermination of the Jewish race, thus becoming an accessory to murder or a scale never seen before.

Streicher, Scored

Jones indicted Streicher as the publisher of the notorious gutter sheet der stuermer which dripped with bloodcurdling accusations against the Jews.

He read scores of extracts from Der Stuermer and followed them with extracts from Streicher's inflammatory speeches from as far back as 1924. These speeches condemned the Jews and demanded mob action against them.

Victory Collection Is Gaining Impetus As Clothing Mounts

Public Urged To Continue Donations As Total Is Still Under Set Goal

Rooms of the Victory Clothing Collection headquarters in the old USO center on East Washington street are gradually being filled by growing piles of cast-off clothing and shoes, but totals are still under the 85,000 article goal set by the county.

Officials of the drive are hopeful of meeting and even going over the goal and are urging the public to give freely of all their unwanted clothing to make the drive a big success in Lawrence county.

Children Help

To date school children of the local institutions are bringing in the most clothing and shoes as they are the house-to-house pick-up crews. Some 15,000 articles have been collected and packed, and a total of 967 pairs of shoes are waiting for shipment to deserving people all over the world.

The committee has placed shoe barrels in front of most of the shoe stores in the downtown business section and ask the public to drop their old shoes in these receptacles as they will prove convenient and persons won't have to bring the shoes to the headquarters itself.

Deposit Box

A deposit box has also been installed in the post office building for the use of persons who may wish to drop clothing downtown after the headquarters are closed.

The committee urges everyone to make a thorough search of all closets, attics and shelves for all old clothing that is of no further use to the wearer. So far the articles collected are in excellent condition and will go far in the vast re-clothing project of the stricken peoples of the world.

Fire stations about the city are used as collection points and school children will canvass the homes of both the urban and rural homes. Drive officials ask everyone to be ready when pick-up boys and girls come, being sure to wrap bundles neatly and tie the shoes in pairs.

Women's organizations and the men's clubs about the city are doing yeoman work in the sorting and packing of the articles.

cash and then moved all the machinery and equipment out to Germany. The same thing happened to dairy farms, herds, railway stock, and other things. Soon the people found they had a lot of money that was useless and many a Dutch industrialist or dairy farmer is ruined today as the result of it.

Flood Dikes

"When the fortunes of war turned against the Germans they soon showed us their teeth. The S. S. troops, youngsters from the Hitler Youth movement were sent in, arrogant, brutal and without feeling. Places occupied by the regular German troops were not so bad but the S. S. troops were beasts. They flooded our dikes and it will take five years to restore the soil.

"All during the occupation, food was always scarce but the winter of 1944-45 was the black winter the Dutch will never forget. No meat, no eggs, no cheese, potatoes were scarce and bread hard to get. In Amsterdam, Rotterdam, and The Hague thousands died of starvation. The folks in the rural districts were a little better off and lived mostly on potatoes and tulip bulbs.

"Tulip bulbs might sound like anything but a food to your Americans."

"Did the Dutch take any revenge on the Germans?" was asked.

Mr. Verdagaal was a little vague on that point. "I guess so," he replied with a rather cryptic smile. "I don't imagine those German bodies they found in the canals in the mornings had stumbled over a fire-plug and fallen in. But then I wouldn't know too much about that."

This winter will be a little better he thinks. Some imports of coal and meats are being received, but clothing is still hard to get.

So, my friend, when the grocer tells you he is out of butter for a couple of days, or you can't get that tweed suit of the color and design you wanted for a time, think of the Dutch.

Strip Mining Law Hearing Is Under Way At Capital

Constitutionality Of State Law Is Being Challenged By Coal Companies

HARRISBURG, Jan. 10.—(INS)—The constitutionality of the commonwealth's strip mining law, challenged by three Clearfield county bituminous companies, was scheduled to be aired today in Dauphin county court at Harrisburg.

Injunctions were sought in October by Alexander Dufour of Garman, R. D.; the Elba Coal company and the Yorkshire Coal company, Inc., both of Madera, to restrain Secretary of Mines Richard Maize and Secretary of Forests and Waters James A. Kell from enforcing the control law passed by the General Assembly during the 1945 session.

More than 8 other soft coal firms were listed as interveners, according to Deputy Attorney General H. F. Sambaugh, who will represent the commonwealth.

The plaintiffs have charged that the $100 filing fee required with each $2,000 bond represented a tax in that revenues were earmarked for land reclamation and could enhance the value of land owned by persons not covered by the statute. The law requires operators to replace soil and vegetation after completing stripping under a $5,000 penalty.

It was also alleged that the law was discriminatory since it limited the requirements to mining companies and that replacement of the soil served no purpose commensurate with the cost.

The defendants denied the charges, pointing out that coal mining resulted in greater destruction to land surfaces than other excavating operations, while soft coal waste resulted in stream pollution and water accumulated in hard coal mines was alkaline.

Restoration of the soil was necessary to prevent erosion and floods, the defense averred.

Burglar Suspect Has Charmed Life

Philadelphia Police Fire 18 Shots
At Fleeing Young Man,
Miss Them All

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 10.—(INS)—Bullets whizzed down mid-Philadelphia streets Wednesday as four policemen fired 18 shots at a fleeing burglar suspect—but missed every time.

The suspect, who identified himself as Joseph Kiska, 23, of Chicago, was finally subdued by a crack on the head from a revolver of one of the patrolmen.

Before the officers caught up to him, Kiska led them on a wild foot race. As he ran, a hammer, chisel and screwdriver kept bouncing around in his pockets, but the resulting clumsiness failed to slacken his speed until the very end.

When policemen and Kiska were out of breath, the chase halted. The burglar suspect, however, was still full of fight and balked when police tried to arrest him. The knock on the head resulted.

Kiska was booked on an open charge pending further investigation. He was removed to Pennsylvania hospital for treatment of head injuries.

The first bald president of the United States was John Quincy Adams.

State Free Roads Members Will Meet

HARRISBURG, Jan. 10.—(INS)—Policy of the Pennsylvania Free Roads Association was slated today to be drafted at Harrisburg January 18.

The association, formed by Pennsylvania businessmen two months ago, announced that delegations from 11 regions of the state which have established temporary organizations were scheduled to attend the meeting and elect officers as well as outline a program.

The association was pledged "to keep the Pennsylvania highways system free from tolls and non-access roadways."

Prison Sentences Would Be Revised

Recommendation Made For Outlawing Solitary Confinement
Penalty In State

HARRISBURG, Jan. 10.—(INS)—Solitary confinement and imprisonment at hard labor would be outlawed under recommendations for revision of the state's penal code being considered today by a sub-committee of the Joint State Government Commission.

Philadelphia's Court Judge Harry S. McDevitt, a member of the committee's advisory council, said such penalties were "obsolete and it is time the law was modernized."

Felonies will be defined as crimes carrying sentences in excess of three years while those involving three-year terms or less will be recognized as misdemeanors under the changes, according to Sen. Paul M. Crider, (R) Franklin, chairman. Uniform maximum fines would also be fixed to correspond with maximum sentences, he added.

The maximums would include: One year, $500; three years, $1,000; five years, $2,000; 10 years, $5,000; and 15 years, $10,000.

"It is through this uniformity that inconsistencies and contradictions will be removed," said W. H. Hatcher, dean of the Dickinson Law School and chairman of the advisory group.

He said further streamlining of the law was being considered, including the consolidation and clarification of certain provisions.

Bright Prospect For Retail Sales

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Jan. 10.—Bright retail sales prospects for Pennsylvania during 1946 were reported today by the better business research bureau at Pennsylvania State college.

"Retail trade, which in 1945 broke all previous records and gained 10 per cent over the previous year, is expected to continue high in 1946," the bureau stated.

General business levels during 1945, as measured by industrial power sales, bank debits and factory payrolls, was only three per cent under the 213-point average for 1944 despite a decrease in war production, the bureau added.

IN THE OPEN

I came awake to a bird-song reverie that did not cease in with the calendar. The dawn serenade outside the window seemed a far cry from January, and more like those bright April mornings when the trout streams are talking among the hemlocks, and elder "spiles" drip maple sap into shiny pails. Somewhere out there below the house a song-sparrow chanted my favorite theme song. Another joined in from a choir left farther down the valley and a Carolina wren shouted lustily from the far hillside.

I rolled out and took a look at the calendar to make sure it was January sixth and not mid-April. Then I took a look at the thermometer and found the mercury recording an even 35 degrees. From the tall poplars along the highway a group of starlings clattered up the air-waves with their polyglot static. The bright, mild morning had lured even these hard-headed realists into trying to make music. From the neighboring farm a strutting rooster sampled the morning threw out his chest and woke the echoes far up and down the valley.

"June In January"

Humming a recently popular tune called "It's June in January," I stepped into hiking toes, fortified by knee boots against the soggy foot-pedals, and hastened out to join the festivities. On the way to the garage to retrieve my all-terrain walking stick I noticed a small garter snake looped about the clustered stems of a climbing rose, perhaps six inches off the ground. I judged it to be one of the snakes we had killed in the late Fall, which had been tossed into the bush.

That snake was far from dead. He very impudently stuck out his tongue at me and prepared to do battle. He was a pale and wan-looking individual, but as active as in mid-Summer. I carry no particular brief for or against garter snakes.

bottomland, raising little gossiping whistles as it fell among the dry leaves about my feet.

Birds Out In Force

The birds of the valley were out in force to bask in the unexpected warmth. Every thicket seemed full of feathered business, and all this activity was interlarded with the pleasant small talk of winter birds on the move. I came out at the creek where the swinging bridge hangs high above the water, and negotiated this rather shaky crossing with no mishap. Along the far hillside I finally caught up with the juncos I knew were wintering in the valley, although I had not so far seen them.

There were perhaps 30 birds in this group, feeding along the steep bank just above the railway tracks. The junco is a friendly fellow dressed in a demure slate-colored frock coat with a white vest. Two or three of the outer tail feathers are pure white, and very conspicuous when the bird is in flight. The juncos are perhaps our commonest winter visitors.

Everywhere I halted through the valley could be heard the trickling sound of running water, as the frost came out and the sloping grades sent along their quotas to swell the feeders to the valley stream. In a day or two the swirling snow will probably once more blot out the horizon, but at least we had one glorious day of "January thaw" as preview of coming events.

BASSY FRASS.

Bona Dea, meaning "the good goddess," was a mysterious Roman divinity worshiped from the most ancient times, but only by women, even her name being concealed from men.

Will Consider Future Use Of U.S. Built Bases

Anglo-American Aviation Talks In Bermuda Will Center On This Problem

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—(INS)—Agreements on the future use of American-built air bases on British territory promised to become a major point of discussion at the forthcoming Anglo-American aviation talks in Bermuda.

The bases involved include the military air fields built in such places as Newfoundland, Trinidad, and Antigua, Santa Lucia and Bermuda.

In addition the fields built elsewhere on British territory and which are not needed for future military operation will also be discussed. Many of these, it was reportedly said, have no immediate civilian usefulness, but the United States would want to protect itself and be able to use them if they should be turned over to civilian operation or use by another power.

Difficult Problems
The conference itself was expected to pose problems which have been extremely difficult of solution.

However, Col. George P. Baker, chief of the Army Transport and Communications policy, expressed optimism.

He recalled that last fall both the questions of communications and commercial aviation appeared stumbling blocks when the British loan talks were underway. He noted, however, that in the November tele-communications conference in Bermuda, when both powers seemed apart, an agreement was reached. He said:

"On January 15 we again sit down with the British in Bermuda. This time it is on civil aviation problems. Again on a few important issues, we appear to be far apart. We confidently believe, however, that the same overall approach between the two countries will bring as successful an agreement on civil aviation as was accomplished in tele-communications five weeks ago."

Grapevines were growing in America as far back as history records. Leaf Erickson found them growing on the North American continent, and Lief Erickson named his discovery Vinland.

THE PARENT PROBLEM

we should treat the response of a child as if he were a grown-up.

Bodily Appeal

However, I have pointed out that, even in routines, we may have to pick up the tot bodily and take him certain places as to bed, once our persuasion failed, though we rarely would spank him to make him go. Furthermore, I have said that although the youngster over five or six may be won by persuasion to do most things we desire him to do, he may sometimes need coercion and has sufficient experience to profit from punishment to make him do a few things required of him.

In addition, I have urged repeatedly that the youngster learn self-reliance and responsibility, that he be expected to wait on himself so far as he is able and be required to do some regular jobs about the home which he normally would rather not do. (My bulletin, "How to Teach Child to Help at Home," may be had in a stamped envelope sent me at 235 East 45th Street, New York, N. Y.)

Think of all the children, even as old as ten or twelve, whose hands and faces are scrubbed and hair combed every school morning by their mothers. Most mothers know the child should wait on himself but have not found a way to make him do so. They are sure the youngster goes to school respectably neat and clean when they wash, comb and dress him with their own hands. Consider the irritations when the mother tries to make this child prepare himself properly for school. In sheer desperation, she angrily may seize him and scrub vigorously.

Nevertheless, one parent out of a hundred may be so poised, having established due respect for her word in the youngster, as to handle such matters wisely. If necessary, she may personally supervise him as he brushes his teeth and tidies himself for school. Or she may just inspect him before he may leave for school. If he does not "pass inspection," she merely gives this information in a moderate tone in the fewest possible words.

No matter how often she must "repeat" her voice does not rise. She merely uses it for information. Because this mother is so calm and her word so dependable the youngster soon discovers there is no advantage to him to whine or object. He soon conforms to the inevitable.

We do envy the marvelous achievement of this mother. Her ways seem worthy of emulation by all other mothers who can really discipline themselves. Here is a good slogan for us parents: Give commands in low temperature and information without inflammation.

Bowles Against Any Increase In Price Of Butter

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—(INS)—Prime Administrator Chester Bowles said today that the OPA is "vigorously" opposed to any price increase in butter.

Bowles told reporters: "You can make that as strong as you like."

In Chicago, Secretary of Agriculture Clinton Anderson said he has proposed an increase of six cents a pound in butter prices to encourage the production of the food product.

DESPITE such name calling, there are many millions of American men and women who do dissent. And many of them object to the effort to force their acceptance in the theory of Mr. Roosevelt's greatness of mind and soul. For example, there are two projects now being pushed by Mr. Roosevelt's friends to which they find it rather hard to subscribe. One of these is the movement to make his birthday a national holiday. It is exceedingly doubtful that a majority of the people are in favor of this. There is no demand that Mr. Roosevelt thus be put on a par with Washington and Lincoln.

YET, opposition to the idea is regarded as wicked. It is the same way with the move to select Hyde Park as the permanent site of the United Nations Organization. In effect, this was the make of the UNO plant a monument to Mr. Roosevelt. In the view of a great many, that would be eminently unfitting. Mr. Roosevelt did not originate the UNO idea. If the memory of any American President is to be honored by the site, clearly it should be that of Woodrow Wilson, founder of the League of Nations, in the support of which (at the time it badly needed support) Mr. Roosevelt, to put it mildly, was lukewarm.

IF THE many millions who loved and admired Mr. Roosevelt want to erect a great memorial to him, no one possibly could object to their raising the money and doing so. There is a movement now to have his friends collect a huge endowment fund and found in Washington, a great university in his name for the study of international relations. This is a very commendable idea. But the attempt to make it appear that the nation as a whole desires such a memorial, when so large a part of the nation taste and good judgment. Opposition to a national monument through official action does not involve hate; it is merely a matter of self-respect and an avoidance of hypocrisy.

Suggests Plan To End Mass Murder On Public Roads

STATE COLLEGE, Jan. 10.—A Pennsylvania State college safety expert today suggested a 1946 resolution designed to end "mass murder on public highways."

Citing America's rapidly rising automobile accident rate, Amos E. Neyhart of the Institute of Public Safety offered these tips for winter driving.

(1) Keep your windshield clear by making certain your defrosting equipment and wipers are working. Light lenses should be clean, too.

for a dirty lens may blot out 50 to 75 per cent of the light.

(2) Reduce your speed. Actual tests show that three to eleven times the distance needed to stop on dry roads is needed to stop on snow and ice.

(3) Use chains when snow and ice prevail. The proper interval is 40 per cent of the distance required for a car without chains.

(4) Increase the distance between your vehicle and the car ahead of you. The proper interval is the length of one vehicle for each ten miles-per-hour your speedometer registers. On snow and ice this distance should be increased.

'Man Of The Year', 'Girl Of The Month' To Meet At Dance

Westminster's Sorority Dance
Saturday

NEW WILMINGTON, Jan. 10.—"The Man of the Year" at Westminster college will meet "The Girl of the Month" at the Theta Upsilon sorority dance in College Hall Saturday night. Proceeds from the affair will go toward the student fund for a war memorial building on campus.

Chi Omega sorority is presenting its "Stardust Ball" at College Hall Friday night. The semi-formal affair will last from 9 to 12 p. m. Johnny Bonfield's orchestra from New Castle will furnish the music.

M. L. Cleland of New Castle, Nancy Sue Heim, of Warren, O., and Isobel Ziegler, Janet Floyd and Judy Gordon, of Pittsburgh, form the committee in charge of the dance. Chaperones will be Dr. and Mrs. William Thomas and Dr. and Mrs. Edward Metcalf.

Before the war in Germany, there was a regulation that, for the protection of airplanes, anyone who wished to fly a kite more than 300 feet was obliged to get a permit.

Hints On Etiquette

You can bore your friends un-speakably by letting your children "show off" when the friends come to visit. Do, however, introduce the children and let them say a few words before they retire to their own affairs to let the older people talk.

College Hall To House Vets, Not Coeds, Now

Dormitory To Be Used To Ease Campus Housing
 Shortage; Registration
 Closed

NEW WILMINGTON, Jan. 10.—To alleviate the housing shortage for the second semester at Westminster college, college hall, which has been a dormitory for freshmen coeds, is being converted into a men's dormitory to accommodate incoming G. I.'s.

The announcement was made this morning by Miss Mary Jane Stevenson, dean of women, who said that the girls would double up in the other dormitories. College Hall, formerly the Wyatt hotel, was bought by the college three years ago, and was used by freshmen men until this year.

Registration for the second semester has been closed to all except discharged servicemen for several weeks, and the applications of veterans are now being refused, according to Dean John R. Spicer.

Even though the college is enrolling the maximum number of ex-servicemen which it can handle, still as many will be refused as admitted from the number now applying for admittance. Former Westminster students are being given priority. Those who will be admitted are to register on January 29.

Enrollment for the first semester was 629 students, 137 of whom were men. No figures have been released by the college office about the probable total for the second semester.

The air brake employees adopted a resolution which left the strike decision for a two-dollar-a-day wage increase up to International union officials.

A similar one-hour strike is scheduled tomorrow for the workers at the Union Switch & Signal company.

Schools To Get Surplus Property Under New Program

School Representatives To Meet In
Plan To Distribute Federal Property

HARRISBURG, Jan. 10.—(INS)—Organization of local agencies to distribute surplus federal property among Pennsylvania schools was slated today to be outlined at a meeting of county school representatives in Harrisburg January 13.

Dr. Paul L. Cressman, supervisor of the distribution program, said the 4,000 educational units in the commonwealth were expected to submit requests to county organizations which would obtain supplies from the central committee in the Department of Public Instruction. Public, private and parochial schools, colleges, universities and libraries have been placed in line for benefits, he added.

"Our first move, however, will be to decentralize in order to provide a better working organization," Cressman said.

Plans for county meetings following the state-wide conference have been completed by an advisory committee, composed of representatives of all educational branches.

To Get Material
The department will obtain material requested by school districts, he said.

About $11,000,000.000 worth of federal property has been declared surplus, according to a department memorandum, while an additional $21,000,000.000 worth was expected to be released by June.

Military aircraft and parts were expected to account for approximately $17,000,000.000, while $10,000,000.000 would represent investments in war plants and sites, he stated. Housing, farms, airports, community facilities and real estate were expected to account for another $4,000,000.000. Less than $1,000,000.000 worth of consumer goods will go on the market, he added.

GREENSBURG, Pa., Jan. 10.—(INS)—An autopsy on Mrs. Ruby Cowell, who died a day after she and an ex-soldier were found unconscious in a parked automobile, today disclosed she had swallowed a sleeping powder, state police reported.

Oppose Amnesty For Objectors

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa., Jan. 10.—(INS)—The Pennsylvania Veterans of Foreign Wars opposed to any move to grant presidential amnesty to 3,000 conscientious objectors now confined in federal prisons.

Edward McCloskey of York, state VFW commander, also protested against releasing the 6,000 objectors serving in camps and hospitals on an equal basis with other members of the armed forces.

"Let the objectors await their turn till every soldier, sailor and marine is home, settled and at his job and let those now serving sentences pay their just debt to Uncle Sam," McCloskey declared, adding, "Freedom belongs to those who are willing to fight and die for it."

Plan Usage Of War-Built Bases In Air Expansion

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—(INS)—The United States was engaged today in a strenuous campaign to use war-built air bases for postwar expansion of commercial international aviation.

This question will be the main item on the newly announced agenda for talks to be held in Bermuda beginning Jan. 15.

It was revealed that talks are going on in many other directions looking to the expansion of American overseas services to all parts of the world.

Thus far negotiations have centered on the north and south Atlantic, Europe, North Africa and the middle east.

Aviation experts are of the general opinion that the United States now has the jump in developing postwar routes. Its lines already extend to Buenos Aires and Santiago to the south over regular commercial routes. To the east they extend to London, Paris, North Africa and on to India.

The Pacific area is still to be allocated though the air transport command already maintains regularly scheduled routes over military lines. Problems before the United Nations Organization particularly those concerning trusteeships and world police arrangements are still to be settled.

Redeployment To Be Discussed With Troops In Germany

Gen. McNarney Moves To Counter Last Night's Demonstration Of Troops At Frankfurt

FRANKFURT, Jan. 10.—(INS) Gen. Joseph T. McNarney, commanding Allied occupation forces in Germany, moved today to counter last night's demonstrations by dissatisfied troops who demanded redeployment to the United States.

Gen. McNarney designated several high ranking staff officers to discuss the problem with representatives of Army units stationed in the area.

During last night's disturbances some 4,000 GI's attempted to crash into the Frankfurt headquarters to lay their demands before Gen. McNarney.

White-gloved paratroop guards with leveled rifles and bayonets halted the demonstrators at the entrance of the I.G. Farben building which houses the headquarters of United States forces in the European theater.

Shout Profane Comment
Two men were roughed around by an officer of the guard during the attempt to enter the headquarters.

The crowds of discontented GI's shouted profane comment on the redeployment situation.

GI's shinned up lampposts and addressed their grievances to the crowd from those vantage points.

The disgruntled soldiers shouted down speakers who tried to reduce the gathering to order. They refused to accept the suggestion that they appoint a committee to deal with ranking officers in stating their complaints.

The soldiers shouted many grievances and quoted from the protests cabled to President Truman, Chief of Staff Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower and Senate officials.

The complaints had to do with the discharge, in the United States of low point soldiers and the release of some low point soldiers from the European theater while higher point veterans remained on foreign duty.

Highlights On The Sunday School Lesson
"The Lord is my helper; I will not fear."—Hebrews 13:6.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL
The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for January 13 is Exodus 6-12, the Memory Verse being Hebrews 13:6. "The Lord is my helper, I will not fear."

Moses first encounter with Pharaoh to get his permission to let the Hebrew people go ended in disaster. Pharaoh not only refused to liberate them, but he imposed more hardships upon them, so that they were worse off than ever. They complained bitterly to Moses, blaming him for their dilemma.

Discouraged, Moses went to the Lord and told Him he had failed, for not only had Pharaoh not let the people go, but he had added to their hardships. Then God said, "Now shall thou see what I will do to Pharaoh, for with a strong hand shall he let them go, and with a strong hand shall he drive them out of his land."

He revealed how He would bring plagues on the Egyptians until Pharaoh would promise to liberate the Hebrews, and then would harden Pharaoh's heart and he would refuse again. Moses would be as a god to Pharaoh, said the Lord, and Aaron would be his prophet.

In this very long lesson, we cannot possible touch on all the plagues with which the Egyptians were smitten or how Pharaoh would give his consent to the exodus and then change his mind. At the last Moses, under the Lord's guidance, told his people to be ready to leave. They were to kill lambs and hold a feast, taking some of the blood and smearing it on the lintels of their houses, for the last and most terrible plague of all was the death of the firstborn of each Egyptian. By the sign of blood on the doors the angel of death would know that a Hebrew dwelt within and that house would be passed over.

There Was a Great Cry
When "there was a great cry in Egypt, for there was not a house where not one was dead." Pharaoh gave way and told the Israelites to "take your flocks and your herds, as ye have said, and be gone, and bless me also."

So the Hebrews formed a great company and went from the land of Egypt into the wilderness, with the Lord guiding them. But even after this terrible calamity, Pharaoh repented letting them go, and he sent his soldiers, horses and chariots to overtake and bring them back. The Israelites reached the shores of the Red Sea and were terror stricken when they saw the Egyptians in pursuit. But the Lord told Moses to lift up his rod, and as he did so the waters of the sea divided, making a wall of water on each side of them with a dry path in the middle of the sea, and the children of Israel passed through it safely. When the Egyptians tried to follow them, the waters closed over them, drowning them all.

Then Moses and all his people sang and gave praises to the Lord for their deliverance, and Moses' sister, Miriam, the prophetess, took a timbrel in her hands and all the women did likewise, and followed her and they danced and sang, "Sing ye to the Lord, for He hath triumphed gloriously; the horse and his rider hath He thrown into the sea."

People Chide Moses
Many hardships the children of Israel suffered as they wandered toward the land the Lord had promised them. The Lord had sent a pillar of cloud to lead them by day and a pillar of fire by night, but if they had no food or water, they grumbled and chided Moses for bringing them away from Egypt. Always, however, the Lord showed Moses a way to feed them.

"I have heard the murmurings of the children of Israel," the Lord said, "speak unto them, saying, 'As even ye shall eat flesh, and in the morning ye shall be filled with bread; and ye shall know that I am the Lord your God.'"

And so it came to pass. Quails came up at night and covered the camp and they slew and ate, and in the morning the ground was covered with manna, which, said Moses, "is the bread which the Lord hath given you to eat."

Then they were attacked by the Amalekites. These people were descended from Esau, and closely related to the Hebrews. Moses held up his hand, and when he did so, Amalek lost, but when his hand fell from weariness, Amalek won; so Aaron and Hur held up his hands, one on either side, so the Israelites were victorious. Moses built an altar here and called the place Jehovah-nissi, for he said, "Because the Lord hath sworn that the Lord will have war with Amalek from generation to generation."

Here Jethro, his father-in-law, came, having heard of his success, and they had a reunion. With Jethro was Moses' wife Zipporah, and his two sons. Jethro counseled Moses on how best to settle disputes among the people by appointing judges to hear their complaints and relieve him of the burden. So Moses took Jethro's advice and his father-in-law left and went back to his own land.

Let's talk turkey

Who should receive the benefits of improved methods when industry gets back into its peacetime production stride?

Judging by their strike demands, UAW-CIO leaders seem to think that such benefits should go entirely to union members.

They forget that it is important for consumers to benefit through reduced prices or greater values. This has the added advantage of increasing volume and thus expanding job opportunities.

They forget too that improved production methods come largely from the use of improved machinery and tools supplied by the owners of the business.

Over the years the automobile industry has grown and prospered and contributed substantially to the welfare of our country because it has adhered to the principle that customers, employees and investors must all benefit from improved methods.

The decision on how best to distribute the benefits calls for experience, judgment and—above all—a primary interest in the welfare of all concerned.

That's why such decisions must be left to management, which is equally concerned with the interests of employees, stockholders—and customers!

Telephone Unions Pledged Not To Cross Picket Line

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 10.—(INS)—Four key Bell Telephone employees today were pledged not to cross Western Electric picket lines in Philadelphia.

The unions are the Federation of Long Line Telephone Operators, the Pennsylvania Federation of Telephone Workers, the Federation of Long Line Telephone Workers, and 200 members of a commercial long line group engaged in accounting.

Earlier, Bell President Philip Stiles urged the unions not to tie up telephone service because of a strike affecting another firm. Western Electric is a contractor for Bell for the installation of equipment.

The Philadelphia division of the Pennsylvania Traffic Employees' association, including 2000 members of whom 1800 are local operators, has taken no stand on crossing picket lines, scheduled to be established by installation workers tomorrow.

Die Wacht am Rhein (The Watch on the Rhine), German patriotic song, did not become the national song until the Franco-Prussian war.

May Not Choose Hyde Park Site For UNO Location

Feel Site Is Too Far From Metropolitan New York To Be Convenient

NEW YORK, Jan. 10.—(INS)—The possibility arose today that Hyde Park, N. Y., home of the late President Roosevelt, may be ruled out as a site for the permanent United Nations organization home.

As the seven-man UNO site inspection committee left New York for a motor tour to Hyde Park, Dr. Stojan Gavrilovic, its chairman, told newsmen the distance from New York was considered pretty far for practical purposes.

Dr. Gavrilovic said that before the group left London there had been some talk of ruling out Hyde Park right then. He added that the site was kept on the agenda at the insistence of several important delegations to the UNO preparatory commission.

The chairman said that "80 miles is about the maximum distance we can go" from any large metropolitan center.

Will Visit Home

The group nonetheless completed its plans to visit the home of the late president, sponsored as the UNO site as a memorial to the man who made the UNO possible.

The committee had planned to spend the morning in a two-hour airplane flight over the entire New York, New Jersey and Connecticut area. Bad weather, however, grounded their plane.

Instead, the group left by automobile for a motor tour through the Orange county—Newburgh, N. Y. area at the invitation of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey.

The party will continue on to West Point where it will lunch at the United States Military Academy. Tonight, the committee will stay in Poughkeepsie, visiting Hyde Park tomorrow morning.

New York, Boston and Atlantic City, N. J., meanwhile, became the three most prominent choices for the interim home of the UNO.

New York, however, may decline the honor of serving as a site until the permanent headquarters has been constructed elsewhere.

Following a conference with the committee on this phase yesterday, Mayor William O'Dwyer told newsmen the city would consider the invitation but could not act upon it until the permanent site is known.

Young women interested in indoor and outdoor activities are cordially invited to join AAYW, which meets every Tuesday evening at 7:30.

A special sports activity class for junior and senior high school students is held on Friday afternoons from 4:30 to 5:30. Present activity is basketball; all girls interested are welcome to attend.

All of the activities are under the direction of Miss Marian Ochampaugh, supervisor of the business and industrial girls.

Westinghouse Co. Preparing For Lengthy Strike

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 10.—(INS)—Westinghouse Electric company officials today issued detailed instructions on plant protection and safety of workers and records during the called CIO-UEW walkout set for January 15, indicating they expect a long, bitter strike.

In a five-page typewritten letter the officials listed 32 precautionary measures that are to be followed by plant managers and guards.

The letter stated that the plant manager will be in complete charge of local situations and no outside police protection or private detectives will be engaged during the strike unless high ranking Westinghouse officials order them to the plants.

All employees necessary for continuous operation, where abandonment would mean insecurity, were informed that they are expected to remain on duty.

The letter stated that all outside gates will be secured with new locks, and windows opening to the street will be locked. All company vehicles will be returned to garages. Parking lots, train switches and railway crossings will be guarded. Records and correspondence will be locked in a safe place within the plant and all shipments of material will stop.

Management will not request or accept picket line passes from the union, and local police will be informed of the plant protection program.

Unfold Details Of Infamous Bataan March

MANILA, Jan. 10.—(INS)—Agonizing details of the infamous Bataan "Death March" were unfolded today by witnesses at the war crimes trial of Lt. Gen. Masaharu Homma, former Japanese Philippine commander.

The witnesses told of the merciless slaying of the weakened defenders of Bataan on their forced march under Japanese guards, and placed Homma at the scene of the crimes. The nervous defendant showed obvious signs of distress during the testimony and at one point shook his head and hand in vigorous denial of a witness' story relating how the Japanese general rode in a "big flashy car" along the route of the "Death March."

Tells Story of March
Col. John Ball, (465 Reynolds street) Williamsport, Pa., held the court spellbound while he related the story of the march as he himself saw it.

Ball broke down and wept on two occasions during his testimony. The colonel told the trial commission: "They placed me ahead of a marching column of sick troops. When I tried to go slow to give the boys a chance, Jap guards felled me with a rifle butt."

"They felled me again when they stole my watch and they kicked me when I tried to pick up my helmet, making me march for two days hatless under the blazing sun. When sick men collapsed they beat or bayoneted them."

Ball also described what he called the "worst night of my lifetime" when he was jammed with several hundred others into a warehouse at San Fernando.

The officer said that two to three hundred men died during the night. The first certain reference to the burning of mineral coal was made by the Greek philosopher, Theophrastus, about 300 B. C.

Former Japanese Owned Hemp Firms Taken Over By U. S.

(BULLETIN)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—(INS)—The United States Government today assumed control of two large Japanese-owned hemp producing firms in the Philippine Islands. Alien property custodian, James E. Markham announced that the Furukawa Plantation Co., and the Ohta Development Co., Inc., largest hemp producers in the world, are to be taken over by the United States.

Markham said that the action should help alleviate the serious shortage of hemp in this country by making the crop of the two companies available to the United States Commercial company. Both firms are located near Davao in southern Mindanao.

New Opinion In Mahoning Election Case

In an opinion and order handed down today by Judge John G. Lamoree, the motion of Frances D. Gregg to quash a petition to open the ballot box of the third precinct of Mahoning township is granted and the case reverts to its status of mid-November. As the matter presently stands, Frances D. Gregg, Democrat, is the winner of the race for road supervisor over Anthony Micco. Previously Micco was shown to be the winner by three votes.

Judge Lamoree's opinion today is a reversal of his previous opinion. When the motion to quash was first presented, he granted it and ordered the ballot boxes of the third precinct to be opened. They were and sufficient error was found to return Micco, a Republican, a winner. Under the opinion of today the action of the recount board is invalidated.

New Petition Possible
After satisfying himself that voters of the second precinct were not eligible to petition for the opening of the third precinct box, Judge Lamoree reversed his former opinion, but said, "in view of the fact that substantial error was discovered in the recount, it is fortunate that the way is still open for a proper determination of the matter. Three qualified electors of the third precinct of Mahoning township may still petition for a recount." This petition will probably be presented shortly.

Although the office in question, that of road supervisor in Mahoning township, is a relatively minor one, it has already been responsible for much litigation.

Originally, Anthony Micco seemed to be the winner on November 6, 1945, upon the basis of the unofficial returns. Friends of Mr. Gregg petitioned for a reopening of the ballot box of the second precinct, and in this box sufficient error was found to show Mr. Gregg the winner.

Friends of Mr. Micco, in the second precinct, then petitioned for the opening of the ballot box of the third precinct, to which counsel for Gregg objected on the grounds they were not qualified, and for the further reason that the ballot box was improperly sealed when it was returned to the court house, his motion was quashed but is now granted.

As the matter stands, as of today, Gregg appears to be the winner. However, under the language of the opinion, a petition can be entered again for the opening of the ballot box of the third precinct. If this is done and the same results are shown as were shown when it was recounted a month ago, it would appear that Micco might still be declared a winner.

Further possibilities are that objection will again be made to the condition of the ballot box when it was returned. The law requires a ballot box to be locked and sealed. It is alleged this box was not locked and that the seal was broken.

AROUND CITY HALL

Money derived from city parking meters in 1945 amounted to $244.75, more than derived in 1944, according to City Controller W. A. Moore. He accounted for the small gain because of the severe winter and especially because many motor cars were garaged during January and February.

One hundred and ten new Miller Multiple Coin Meters are to be delivered to the city of New Castle, this year. Just when they will arrive is unknown according to Mayor John P. Haven who stated that "no doubt the plants are having difficulties the same as business houses," hence the delay.

During the illness of C. Ed. Brown, city clerk, his duties are being performed by Mrs. Edna Reimold, secretary to Mayor John P. Haven. Mr. Brown has been ailing for some time but refused to take to his bed until his physician advised him to do so.

Not so long ago a sled was stolen from North Mercer street and although this is not the time of year when scooters are used much because of snow, one was stolen from the property of Mrs. Wallace Kirkwood, Randolph street. It was red in color, had four rubber tires and carried the name, "Airplane."

State Department of Internal Affairs has approved the proposed ordinance to increase the bonded indebtedness of the city half a million dollars for a city building sewer improvements and other post-war work according to City Solicitor R. M. White. The ordinance will be adopted by city council, Monday.

Order Crack-Down To Purge Highways Of Traffic Violators

Governor Martin Orders State Officials To Initiate Rigid Campaign

HARRISBURG, Jan. 8.—(INS)—State officials were under orders today from Gov. Edward Martin to "crack down hard" on motor vehicle law violators in a campaign to reduce traffic fatalities.

The Revenue department reported 1208 persons were killed in traffic accidents in the commonwealth between January 1 and November 30, 1945, an increase of 101 death compared with the same period of 1944.

"Pennsylvania's record of killed and injured in traffic accidents during recent months is deplorable," Governor Martin told his cabinet. "This slaughter must cease and all state agencies are directed to use every means at their command to protect both motorists and pedestrians from reckless and speed-mad drivers."

"Specifically direct the Pennsylvania State Police to enforce all speed and traffic laws."

"The department of revenue must tighten up on revocations and suspensions of drivers' licenses of all those cited for violations. The liquor control board must be diligent in revoking licenses of vendors who sell intoxicants to those visibly under the influence of liquor," he emphasized.

"The Public Utility Commission must see to it that public buses, taxicabs and trucks comply with speed and safety regulations, including inspection of equipment," the governor added.

He also urged all law enforcement officers to join with state agencies in this drive to reduce the death toll on our highways."

The revenue department report emphasized that traffic accident deaths began an upward swing last June and have been increasing monthly.

During 11 months of 1945 deaths in rural areas increased from 561 to 628 compared with the same period of 1944 while fatalities in cities jumped from 546 to 580 in the same period.

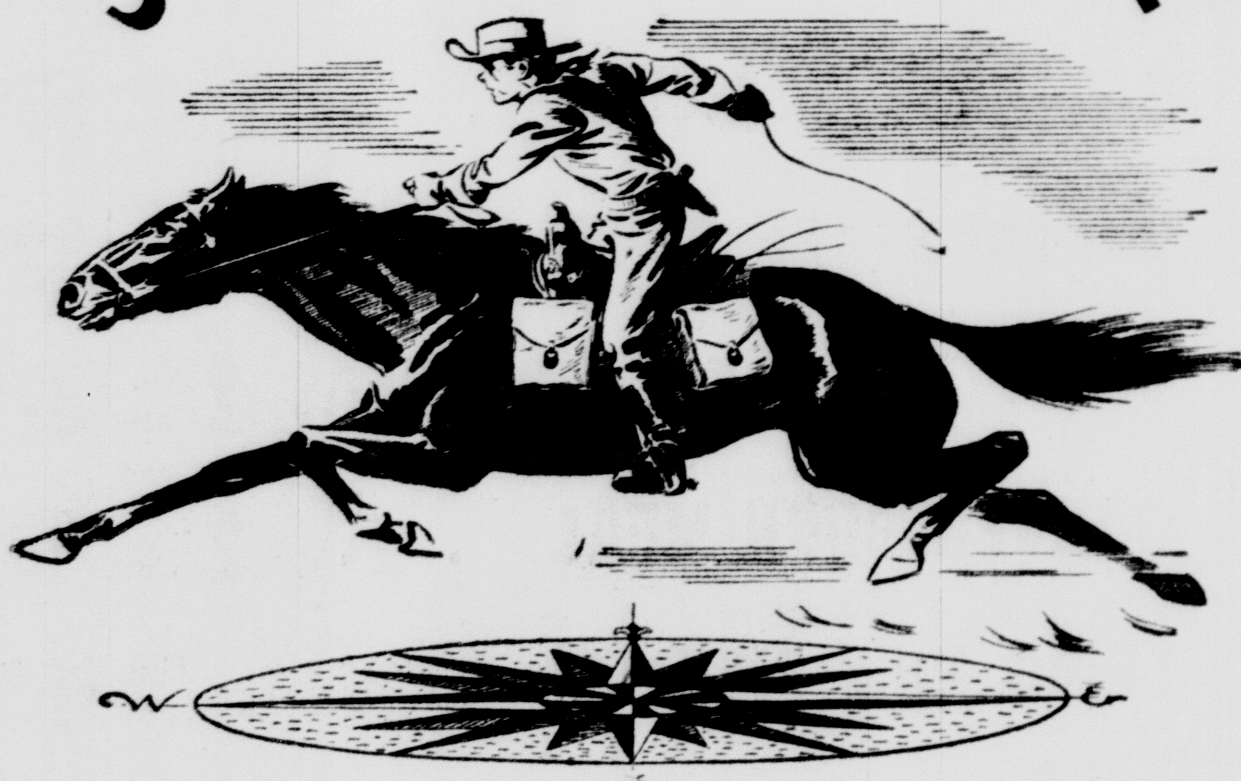

A total of 390 pedestrians were killed in the 11-month span including 232 in the rural areas and 358 in cities. The report predicted that the traffic toll for December, although not yet completed, would total "over 170 deaths."

It is not always possible to put through Long Distance calls to the far West without delay. A major reason is returning veterans and their desire to call home. Sometimes, too, lines to the deep South are overcrowded... for the same good reason.

But we're putting in more circuits — thousands of miles of them — as fast as we can, and we hope it won't be much longer before we're back to pre-war standards of service.

RUINS PADDED CELL

Sheriff Frank L. Coen starts his term as sheriff of the county with no padded cell, which is standard equipment in any well kept jail. Or perhaps it would be better to say the cell is there but the padding isn't.
Several nights ago a demented youth was placed in the padded cell for his own protection. During the night he got the idea he would take the padding apart and he did just that.
Somehow he worked one of the padded panels loose and then pried
a metal bar from the cell side.
With this he ripped off but two of the padded panels off the walls, then went to work upon the floor.
The panels are No. 10 canvases stuffed with excelsior. When he got through the cell was ankle deep in excelsior and the canvas hung in ribbons. The cost of repairing the damage will be heavy.

Lester V. Thayer, plea to a morals

Two Authorities Argue Problems Of Delinquency

Judge, Detention Officer Disagree On Causes Of Juvenile Lawlessness

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 10.—(INS)—Two of Pennsylvania's foremost authorities on juvenile delinquency today took divergent views as to the causes of a wartime jump in child crime in the state.

Norbury S. Teter, assistant superintendent of the Philadelphia House of Detention, took this outlook.

"Stems From Home"

"Ninety per cent of juvenile delinquency stems from causes in the home. That's our most important workshop. As soon as many of the mothers stop working and the fathers and brothers come home from the service, I feel confident there will be a decrease."

But Municipal Court Judge Nochem S. Winnet, chairman of the Philadelphia Crime Prevention association and secretary-treasurer of the Pennsylvania Council of Juvenile Court Judges, looked at it this way.

"I don't believe that the fact that many mothers are working, or that many fathers and brothers are in the service, has much influence on juvenile delinquency. We have found, through experience, that there is no proof that the children of working mothers are more likely to be delinquent than those of mothers who stay in the home."

And though the two men disagreed on the basic underlying causes of juvenile delinquency, they did agree on other contributing factors involved and the steps necessary to eliminate child crime.

Said Judge Winnet:

"Stresses 'Understanding'—What we do need, however, are more understanding parents and stressed 'understanding'. That's where the biggest field for improvement in the home lies."

Teter, who is in almost constant contact with juvenile criminals in his job at the house of detention, insisted that the housing shortage and lack of adequate recreational facilities were "contributory causes" of child crime in Pennsylvania.

"The schools could be improved," he said, "with the addition of more vocational guidance courses, to the curricula and the construction of more vocational schools."

Judge Winnet admitted that "there is still a great deal to be done" towards combating juvenile delinquency, and added:

"We must rebuild slum areas; establish recreational facilities; end economic discrimination; continue to fight for social justice to end hostility—not only of youths but also of adults—to the law."

And What of Curfew

The two men disagreed again, however, when discussing the value of a curfew in Pennsylvania communities to keep teen-age youngsters off the streets after a certain hour at night.

Teter favored the curfew, declaring:

"During the war, an unofficial curfew was ordered (in Philadelphia) keeping youngsters under 16 off mid-city streets in the late night and early morning hours."

"This decreased the number of girl delinquents, but had little effect on boys."

Said Judge Winnet:

"My belief is that no community needs a curfew. The laws are sufficient to cover the situation, and if the police force is alert, the curfew is unnecessary."

"There are laws in almost every town which permit the questioning of any person suspected of injuring the health or morals of himself or the community, and if the police enforce the laws, there is absolutely no need for an over-all curfew."

Trailers, Huts Cover Campuses As Housing Now

Veteran Not Only Comes Back To School, But Brings Family With Him

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—(INS)—The ivy-covered walls and gothic spires of the nation's colleges and universities are today standing cheek-by-jowl with more than 26,000 Quonset huts, trailers and movable houses.

Patter of Little Feet

Furthermore, they look down on orderly curtains fluttering from the windows of the Johnny-come-lately structures and hear the patting of little feet invading their academic privacy.

The answer is that veterans are taking over the colleges this semester and, in an impressive number of cases, are bringing their families as well.

The Federal Housing Agency has been pressed into service to help supply desperately needed accommodations for the ex-servicemen, their wives and their children.

As of Jan. 1, FHA had managed to lease or transfer 11,246 family units, 11,278 trailers and 2,557 dormitory units to 170 educational institutions and 97 municipalities.

College towns lacking adequate housing are among the municipalities receiving the supplementary housing.

An undetermined number of Quonset huts have also been transferred to colleges but until now the number of these structures declared surplus and eligible for release has been comparatively negligible.

FHA has 3890 Quonset huts on hand now to help fill the demand for student housing.

Day Nursery, Too

American university in the nation's Capital is not only converting some surplus Quonset huts into apartments for married veterans but is considering opening a day nursery for children of the vet students.

The University of Richmond has petitioned FHA for 200 Quonset huts or similar structures.

The University of Virginia, with 300 married veterans and 900 single veterans to house, has 100 trailers promised and expects to accommodate the academic overflow with some other type of temporary housing units.

And the "campus cut-up of 1946" is likely to be the beautiful, blonde sub-suburb of Quonset number seven whose father is majoring in child psychology.

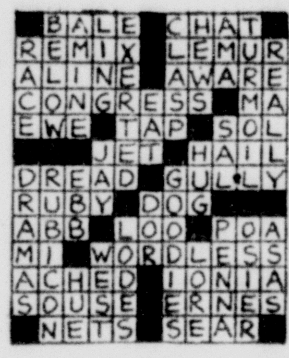

Fear Coal Surplus If Steel Strike Develops Monday

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 10.—(INS)—Western Pennsylvania coal operators today expressed concern over a surplus coal market if the steelworkers strike January 14.

A spokesman pointed out that a 20-day strike would find the market glutted with extra tonnage. He added companies would not be able to make deliveries to steel plants and full mining operations would drop an additional 200,000 tons daily.

Stop Signs Mean 'Stop', Revenue Department Says

HARRISBURG, Jan. 10.—(INS)—The Revenue Department pointed out to motorists today the importance of observing stop signs.

"Stop signs are provided as a safety measure, yet each month many accidents occur here because some operators do not observe them," said T. Elmer Transeau, director of highway safety.

A blinking red light means the same thing as a stop sign—the operators must stop and proceed when it is evident that he can move with safety; a blinking yellow light means proceed with caution," he explained.

There is a strike by some of the employees of the Western Electric Company, which company contracts to install equipment in our Central Office buildings.

We are told that the striking employees propose to picket those buildings.

This is not a dispute between this company and its employees.

We recognize the seriousness of the situation. We believe our own employees do, and we also believe that they will discharge their obligations to the public.

Esposito received his boot training at Great Lakes and Camp Perry, Va., and was later sent to Brooklyn, N. Y. He and his wife Mrs. Josephine Esposito and son live with Mrs. Carl Carney of Morris street. The sailor has three battle stars.

BRIDES MOVE IN

LONDON.—(INS)—Just on the eve of setting a vacant seat on a plane leaving for the United States, British brides of American GIs are "moving in" on the transatlantic airbase at Fynes, Eire.

Their hope is that eventually some booked passenger will fail to turn up and that the company, rather than let the plane leave without the full load, will offer them the seat.

MATTOON III.—(INS)—Members of the Mattoon girls' service organization are undecided as to whether they should be awarded the purple heart or a special medal of honor. Figures compiled recently show they danced 24,457 hours during World War II. Of this total, 8,333 hours were spent dancing with soldiers at the Chamite Field Service club. The remaining hours were spent at the Mattoon USO lounge.

YES, IT'S TRUE

VANCOUVER, B. C.—(INS)—A Scottish landlady who recently appeared in the Vancouver rental court had strong religious scruples. Claiming her tenant was in arrears, she was contesting the suspension of an eviction order. Late President Roosevelt Feared Clash With Japan

Letter Discloses Fear Expressed
Two Days Before Pearl Harbor Attack

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—(INS)—
A member of Congress disclosed that two days before the attack on Pearl Harbor the late President Roosevelt wrote a letter saying that he feared a clash with the Japanese "at any moment."

The letter was written to the late Wendell Wilkie and requested the 1940 GOP presidential nominee to go to Australia and New Zealand
as Mr. Roosevelt's personal representative.

The document was dated December 5, 1941. Referring to the imminence of trouble with Japan, the late president wrote:

"Perhaps the next four or five days will decide the matter."

Didn't Foresee Hawaii Attack
Mr. Roosevelt anticipated the possibility of a Japanese assault against the Philippines, the Dutch East Indies, Malaya or Burma. No mention was made of Hawaii.

The letter, now in the possession of the congressman, is expected to be submitted to the congressional committee investigating the Pearl Harbor disaster.

While the letter was dated December 5, it was not mailed until after the December 7 attack. It bore a postscript in the late president's hand which read:

"This was dictated Friday morning—long before this vile attack started."

The letter asked Wilkie if he would care to make a trip to Australia and New Zealand as the president's personal representative in response to a request by the Australian prime minister.

Work To Prevent More Rock Slides

LANCASTER, Pa., Jan. 10.—(INS)—
Maintenance crews worked today to prevent another rock slide such as caused the derailment near Elizabethtown of an eastbound Pennsylvania Railroad train carrying approximately 200 passengers from Harrisburg to Philadelphia.

Three persons were injured, one seriously, according to a PRR official. The locomotive and six of eight cars were derailed last night.

The train made up at Harrisburg, crashed into rock and earth apparently loosened from the steep walls of the cut by rain.

Confined to the Harrisburg hospital was Byron Jakeman, 37, of Philadelphia, suffering a possible fractured right hip and leg.

Theodore Wells, 53, of Lemoyne, and Rachael Roth, 38, of Marysville, were treated at the scene of the accident and taken to Philadelphia.

State police reported traffic was tied up for a brief time by the accident.

Correspondence courses in agriculture and home economics were first offered by the Pennsylvania State College in 1899, and over the last 45 years attracted a total enrollment of 71,000.

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes show there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.
